Is your database getting to large to monitor closely? Do you wish everyday you had time to query your database in ways to help you generate more business or find lost opportunities? Workflow Automation is a great tool to monitor your database, alert you of missed opportunities, and assist you in generating more business. Are customers not getting call backs or issues resolved in a timely manner? Have workflow send you an email alerting you of these items. Haven't heard from any customers in the past year? Have workflow email you a report of these customers. In addition, you might want workflow to assist in sending out an email to these customers with special savings offers for past customers. This is just a handful of processes that can be done to assist you. Once setup, workflow works in the "background" doing all the work and assisting you manage, monitor and generate business.
